

Learner License

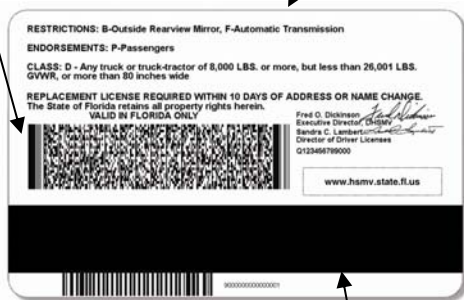

21st
Birthday

Back of Card

Driver Specific Class Code, Restrictions, Conditions and Endorsements

2-D Barcode

Magnetic Stripe

2-D Barcode and Magnetic Stripe Store Information Shown on the Card's Front

Benefits

Enhanced Identity Protection:

- Three Layers of Security: overt, covert, and forensic
- Serves law enforcement, retail, financial and transportation industries, and the public

Faster Service:

- Integrates four currently used systems that produce driver licenses and identification cards
- Additional equipment and redundant data sources minimize downtime

Header Color Designates Card and Class Types

Learner License

Commercial License (CDL)

Class D & E Licenses

Identification Card

Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles
 Division of Driver Licenses
 2900 Apalachee Parkway, Neil Kirkman Building
 Tallahassee, Florida 32399-0500

www.hsmv.state.fl.us

March 1, 2004

FLORIDA

The Sunshine State

Driver Licenses and Identification Cards

"Making Highways Safe"

Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles

www.hsmv.state.fl.us

More Than A License . . .

In the spring of 2004, Florida will issue new driver licenses and identification cards. Technological advancements make this the most secure card Florida has ever issued. This technology includes a 2-D barcode, magnetic stripe, digitized portrait image, signature, and various security features. Florida's image is depicted with a beach scene and the state seal.

The "under 21" driver licenses and identification cards reflect major changes. The new vertical format is immediately recognizable. The card holder's 21st birthday is indicated in the photo image area.

The cards are created using a new, updated digital imaging process. This process stores all the information from the front of the card in a 2-D barcode and magnetic stripe located on the back. Driver license class, restrictions, condition, and endorsements specific to the driver are printed on the back.

Previously issued Florida driver licenses and identification cards remain valid until their expiration dates.

Does your current license or identification card look like this example?

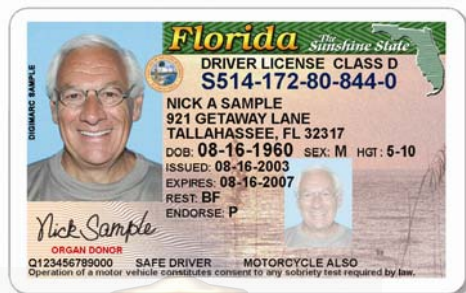

Then the new card format will be issued on your next renewal in person, or by mail, phone or internet.

Does your current license or identification card look like this example?

Then the new card format will be issued on your next visit to a driver license office.

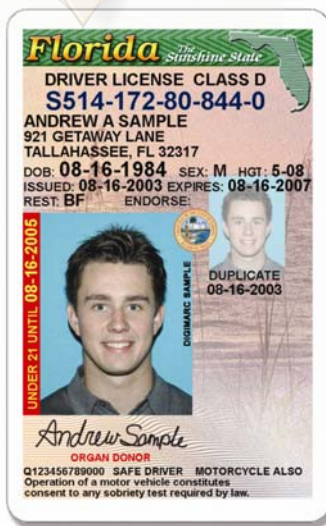

Adult License

Adult Identification Card

Minor License

Minor Identification Card

Under 21 Licenses and ID Cards are Vertical Format